5. Basilique de Vezalay, France

Begun at the order of the Roman Emperor Constantine, the basilica of St. Peter was a five-aisled church with an apsed transept on the west. It was entered through an atrium called ‘Paradise’.